DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-4, 13, 14, drawn to a database search system, classified in class 707, subclass 3.

II. Claims 5, 6, drawn to a method for searching a document from a database, classified in class 707, subclass 4.

III. Claims 7-9, 15, drawn to a method for creating a data file, classified in class 707, subclass 102.

IV. Claims 10-12, drawn to a recording medium, classified in class 707, subclass 7.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I,II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (Groups I and II) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (Group III) as claimed because the combination does not require a step of dividing the text into keywords. The subcombination has separate utility such as creating a data file for use in displaying on screen, transferring the data file or storing in database.

.Inventions I, II and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (Groups I and II) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (Group IV) as claimed because the combination does not require the table lists the character independently, sorts the character in a predetermined character-code order, and integrates identical character strings. The subcombination has separate utility such as storing the record instead of searching item in database.

Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination Group III has separate utility such as searching database. And subcombination Group IV has separate utility such as recording record of index information. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, the process for using the product can practiced with another materially different product without a database control for controlling the transfers of a document file as required by Group I.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

A shorten statutory period for response to this action is set to expire thirty days from the mailing date of this communication. Failure to respond within the period for response will cause the application to become abandoned.

Applicants are reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(l).
